Director GCHQ on global security amid war in Ukraine

The head of the UK's intelligence, cyber and security agency, Director GCHQ Sir Jeremy Fleming spoke at an event at the Australian National University.

In a speech delivered at the Australian National University, Canberra, Director GCHQ Sir Jeremy Fleming discusses the resolve of the Ukrainian people and the strength and unity of the West's response.

Sir Jeremy discusses the work of the National Cyber Security Centre, who have highlighted sustained intent from Russia to disrupt Ukrainian government and military systems.

The comments were part of a speech delivered to warn about the 'generational upheaval' in global security.

Read the speech

PUBLISHED

31 March 2022

WRITTEN FOR

Public sector

Large organisations

Cyber security professionals

NEWS TYPE

General news